I believe very strongly that we will make time for the things we treasure and I do treasure BIG. Having had the opportunity to meet some of BIG’s founders and early leaders, I know they got it right in creating this organization to help level the playing field. I also know we can’t rest on our laurels because the job is not yet complete. BIG remains relevant because there is still a need for an advocacy organization that is big enough to bring all who believe in the mission inside the tent. And, while the world has changed quite a bit since 1975 when BIG was created and since its incorporation in 1976, the world has not changed so much that the advocacy, career development training, and community service that BIG provides is no longer needed. We are needed, we are relevant, and I stand ready to help BIG continue to fulfill its mission.
